SHOPNO CHITRA

স্বপ্নচিত্র

WEBSITE RESEARCH & PROPOSAL REPORT

What we found on your Facebook page, how your brand should look online, what the website will include — and exactly how it will bring you more clients.

Prepared for: Shopno Chitra — স্বপ্নচিত্র

Business: Wedding Photography & Cinematography, Mohammadpur, Dhaka

Scope: Research · Brand Color Study · Website Feature Plan · Business Benefit

Date: October 2026

01 WHAT WE STUDIED BEFORE DESIGNING ANYTHING

Before touching a single layout, we went through your Facebook page line by line, opened every public photo, checked your listed website, and studied what competing studios in Bangladesh are doing right now. Here's the honest picture.

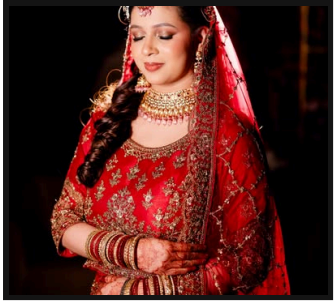

✓ YOUR FACEBOOK PAGE

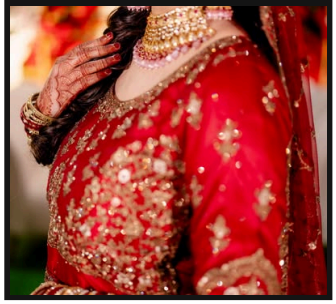

ITEM	WHAT WE FOUND
Page	Shopno Chitra — স্বপ্নচিত্র (facebook.com/shopnochitra)
Followers	53,000 followers — a genuinely strong base most local studios never reach
Category	Photography & Videography · Mohammadpur, Dhaka 1207
Services listed	Wedding photography, cinematography, event coverage, drone & FPV filming, online booking
Contact	+880 1830-711094 · shopnochitra@gmail.com · Always open
Linked channels	Instagram @shopnochitra · YouTube @ShopnoChitra · shopnochitra.com
Reviews	Only 4 reviews, no rating yet — a lot of happy clients, almost no public proof
Posting	Active — latest album posted about a day before this research

> The biggest problem we found: the website linked on your Facebook page — shopnochitra.com — does not exist anymore. The domain doesn't even resolve. A couple who finds your page, taps "website" and lands on nothing will quietly assume you're unavailable and move on to the next studio. Fixing this alone is worth real money.

✓ YOUR VISUAL THEME (FROM YOUR PHOTOS)

LATEST ALBUM REVIEWED FOR THIS REPORT

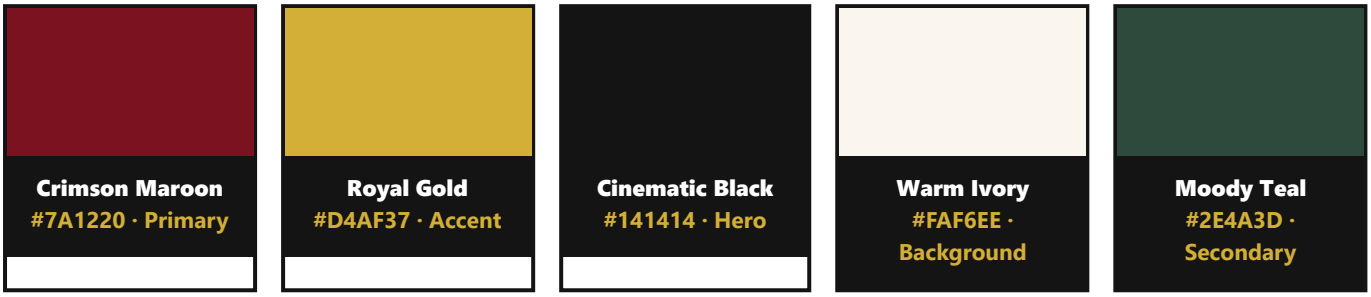

We reviewed 15 of your public images — the branded cover, the photo gallery, and your latest full wedding album. The pattern is unmistakable and it's a strength, not an accident:

- Red and gold everywhere. The bride's crimson lehenga, gold zari embroidery, gold kundan jewellery, red chur bangles, mehndi on the hands — this is your signature look.
- The groom in black (bandhgala suit, red pocket square) deliberately contrasts the bride. It makes the couple pop in every frame.
- Set design does half the work: red rose flower walls, gold frames, white sofas, warm floral bokeh. It reads expensive.
- Your brand cover goes cinematic: dark moody teal-green, bride under a veil, groom lit from a distance. That's your "fine-art" side — and it's the best image you own for a homepage hero.
- Consistent watermark: শপ্ন চিত্র / Shopno Chitra in Bengali + English on every shot. Good instinct — that's brand recall.

> Straight takeaway: your photos already look like a premium brand. your online presence doesn't match them yet. The website's job is to close that gap.

02 THE RIGHT COLOR FOR THE WEBSITE

We didn't pick these colors from a trend list. They were pulled directly out of your own photography — so the site will feel like an extension of your work, not a template someone bought.

✓ WHY EACH COLOR EARNS ITS PLACE

COLOR	WHERE IT COMES FROM & WHY IT WORKS
Crimson Maroon #7A1220	It's the exact red of the bridal lehenga in your album. Red is also auspicious and emotionally loaded in Bangladeshi weddings — couples feel this color before they read a word. Used for headings, buttons, and the footer.
Royal Gold #D4AF37	Pulled from the jewellery and zari work. Gold signals premium pricing without saying the word. Thin gold rules, borders and small accents only — never big blocks, or it turns cheap.
Cinematic Black #141414	Your dark, moody cover image sits on black. Full-bleed black hero sections let your brightest photos glow like they do in a gallery. This is what separates a "studio" site from a "hobbyist" site.
Warm Ivory #FAF6EE	Reading backgrounds. Pure white feels clinical and washes out warm skin tones in photos; ivory keeps the whole site feeling warm and handcrafted.
Moody Teal #2E4A3D	Second voice — taken from your brand cover's green field. Perfect for the "About / Our Story" band so the site isn't red-on-red the whole way down.

> One rule we'll hold all the way through: the interface stays quiet — ivory, black, thin gold lines — so the red comes from your photographs. If the UI shouts, the photos stop speaking.

✓ TYPOGRAPHY DIRECTION

- Headlines: a bold, high-contrast display serif (Playfair Display / Cormorant) in heavy weight — matches the gold, ornate, bridal feel.

- Body: a clean sans-serif (Inter / Source Sans) so packages and pricing are effortless to scan on a phone.
- Bengali support built in — স্বপ্নচিত্র and any Bangla copy must render properly, not fall back to a system font. Your audience searches in Bangla too.

03 WHAT THE WEBSITE WILL HAVE — AND WHY

Every feature below is here for one reason: it moves a curious visitor one step closer to booking. Nothing decorative for its own sake.

FEATURE	WHAT IT IS	HOW IT PULLS IN CLIENTS
1. Full-screen Hero	Your cinematic cover shot, full width, with "Wedding Photography & Cinematography — Dhaka" stated plainly, and one big button: Check Your Date.	A couple landing here knows in 3 seconds: who you are, what you do, where you are. Vague studios lose the click; clear ones keep it.
2. Portfolio by Story	Not a junk drawer of 500 images — complete wedding albums, one per couple, browsable like a magazine. Red/walima sets, holud, outdoor, candid.	Couples buy from full stories, not single hero shots. Seeing a whole day handled beautifully answers "can they handle my wedding?" without a single phone call.
3. Packages & Starting Price	3 clear tiers (e.g. Photography / Photography + Film / Premium with drone & FPV), each listing hours, edited photos, album, delivery time. A visible starting price.	This is the #1 conversion feature in our industry research. People who can't afford you self-select out; serious couples see you're professional and inquire faster. Silence on price = fewer leads.
4. Real Testimonials	Named couples, wedding date, their photo from the album, pulled from your Facebook comments and reviews.	You have 53K followers but only 4 public reviews — that's proof sitting unused. On the site, every claim gets backed by a real face. Trust is what turns a browser into a booking.
5. Date-Check Form	Short and sharp: wedding date, venue, phone/WhatsApp, package interest. Four fields. An automatic "we'll reply within 24 hours" message.	Asks exactly the questions you'd ask anyway, so your first reply can be complete and professional. Fewer fields = more submissions. Every inquiry lands structured, in order, first-come first-served.

6. WhatsApp & Click-to-Call	Sticky button on mobile, your 01830 number one tap away.	In Bangladesh, deals happen on WhatsApp. This removes the last inch of friction — especially for the 80%+ of visitors arriving from Facebook on a phone at night.
7. Live Instagram + Facebook Feed	Your latest posts embedded on the site, auto-updating.	The site never looks stale, you maintain nothing extra, and visitors who found you on social can keep following you there. Both channels feed each other.
8. Film Showreel Section	A 15–30 second highlight reel of your cinematography + drone footage, autoplay-muted with a fallback image.	Video is your premium upsell. A single reel sells cinematography packages better than any paragraph — and drone/FPV is something most local competitors can't offer.
9. About & Team	Your story, your gear, your team, your studio address in Mohammadpur.	Second-most-visited page on any studio site. Couples are choosing people, not pixels — a real face behind the camera is a competitive advantage.
10. SEO & Google Presence	Pages that actually say "wedding photographer in Dhaka / Mohammadpur", fast loading, mobile-first, connected to Google Business Profile.	Facebook reach is rented — the algorithm decides who sees you. A website is an asset that brings search traffic every month, forever, at no per-lead cost.

04 HOW THIS BRINGS YOU MORE CLIENTS

This is the part that matters, so we'll be blunt about it.

53K	24/7	0
FOLLOWERS YOU CAN REDIRECT	WORKING HOURS, NO STAFF NEEDED	COST PER LEAD, UNLIKE ADS

Right now, interest leaks out of your business at three points. The website plugs all three:

Leak 1 — The dead website link. Every week, someone taps "website" on your Facebook page and gets nothing. Some of them were ready to book. You'll never know how many. The new site turns that dead end into your best salesperson.

Leak 2 — No place to show full work. Facebook scrolls past. Albums are buried. A couple who loved one photo can't find the rest, can't see your packages, can't judge your price range — so they DM and wait, or they don't. On the site, the whole decision happens in one sitting, then they contact you already convinced.

Leak 3 — Proof is invisible. 53,000 people follow you, yet a stranger sees "4 reviews, no rating." On the website, testimonials with real couples' names and photos sit next to every package. That's the difference between "looks nice" and "safe to pay a deposit to."

✓ WHERE THE NEW CLIENTS ACTUALLY COME FROM

- Your own audience, finally monetized. 53K followers currently give you reach and nothing else. The link in your bio becomes a booking funnel that works while you sleep.
- Google search you don't pay for. Couples Google "wedding photographer Dhaka" every day. Today that leads to your competitors with working sites. After launch, it can lead to you — once, and again next month, at no cost per click.
- Referrals that land somewhere professional. When a happy client tells a friend, the friend checks you out within minutes. A fast, gorgeous site with visible packages closes that referral. A dead link kills it.
- Higher-value bookings, not just more inquiries. Published packages and a starting price attract couples already in your budget range — fewer wasted calls, more inquiries that end in signed contracts.

- It works while you're shooting. Weddings keep you offline for days. The site keeps answering questions, showing work, and collecting dates and venues from couples who'd never have waited for a reply.
- Something your competitors in Dhaka already have. Studios half your size now run booking-ready sites with package builders and working forms. Your work is better than theirs — the site makes sure people know it.

> The one-sentence version: you've already done the hard part — you built the skill and the 53K audience. The website is simply the missing piece that converts attention into signed bookings instead of likes.

✓ WHAT SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE IN 90 DAYS

SIGNAL	WHAT IT TELLS US
Form inquiries with date + venue	Structured leads you can quote in one professional reply — the direct path to contracts.
WhatsApp taps from mobile	Proof that the Facebook-to-website pipeline is alive, not just likes.
Package page views	Visitors checking your prices = buyers, not window-shoppers. This is the audience you want.
Google traffic to Dhaka searches	New clients who never came through Facebook at all — net-new reach you don't rent.

Research sources: public audit of facebook.com/shopnochitra (page data + 15 images reviewed), domain status check of shopnochitra.com, and current wedding-photography website conversion benchmarks (The Vendor Method, Talha Aslan, Inshalytics) plus Bangladeshi competitor builds — ChitroKuthir Weddings and Chitrogolpo Photography. Prepared as a planning document for client review, October 2026.